The corporate governance of COPRO-HOLDINGS. Co., Ltd. (the "Company") is described below.

I. Basic View on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic View

In order to clarify the management's responsibility and accountability toward shareholders, customers, employees, and other stakeholders, and maximize corporate value, we work to ensure transparency and compliance in management and business operations, while at the same time promoting more efficient management. Through these initiatives, we seek to further enhance corporate governance.

[Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code] Updated

[Supplementary Principle 3.1.3: Sustainability Initiatives, etc.]

- Basic Policy for Sustainability Initiatives -

Recognizing that people are assets, we consider human resources to be "human capital". We believe that expanding and utilizing the possibilities of employees, including dispatched temporary staff engineers, will further enhance the competitiveness of the company and improve its corporate value. In addition to training programs and career advancement support, we are enhancing the system for employee benefits. In the medium-term business plan, at the same time that we are aiming for sustainable growth by providing unique value through the "Technician Support Platform", we are contributing to the realization of a sustainable society.

- Sustainability Initiatives -

The Board of Directors of the Company recognizes that addressing sustainability issues is an important management issue that not only reduces risk but also leads to revenue opportunities (such as consideration for global environmental issues like climate change, respect for human rights, consideration for employee health and their working environment, fair and appropriate treatment, fair and appropriate transactions with business partners and crisis management for natural disasters.) In order to promote sustainability activities (ESG activities), we are pushing ESG activities by discussing important matters related to Group sustainability based on the above basic policy.

Our specific sustainability initiatives are disclosed in the "Sustainability" section of our website.

(<https://www.copro-h.co.jp/en/sustainability/>)

- Investment in Human Capital, etc. -

The Group's main business is the human resource dispatching business and paid job introduction business, mainly targeting the construction industry and plant operators. In addition to creating employment, we are developing our business activities with the important theme of "human resource development", including various types of education.

The Group's efforts to invest in human capital are disclosed in the above-mentioned Supplementary Principle 2.4.1 and on the "Sustainability Site" of the Company's website.

- Investment in Intellectual Property, etc. -

The Group actively utilizes IP (intellectual property such as characters) in advertising activities, etc. Recognizing that the protection and utilization of intellectual property is one of the important factors for the sustainable growth of the Group and the enhancement of our corporate value, we strive to appropriately protect the intellectual property rights that are the assets of the Group, and respect the intellectual property rights of third parties.

- Responding to Climate Change Risk and Disclosure Based on the TCFD Framework -

Our risk management committee considers how climate change risk will specifically affect the Group's management strategy, both in terms of risks and opportunities. They consider countermeasures for the identified risks and create a report system for the Board of Directors.

We will use the TCFD recommendations as a benchmark to verify the suitability of our climate change response, and for sustainable growth, we will take up growth opportunities and deal with risks. At present, some items are still under consideration and some items may take multiple years to deal with, but we will continue to consider orderly information disclosure from the details of our efforts.

[Supplementary Principle 4.1.3: Succession Plan for the CEO]

The Company does not formulate a successor plan for the chief executive officer (CEO) at present. Regarding the formulation of a successor plan for the president, considering the qualities such as experience, ability, and character that the chief executive officer should have, the nomination and compensation committee will deliberate and consider so that the most suitable successor can be selected according to the business situation and issues to be dealt with.

[Principle 4.11: Prerequisites for Ensuring Effectiveness of the Board of Directors and Board of Auditors]

Of the Company's directors, one outside director is a certified Labor and Social Security Attorney, and he is equipped with the well-balanced knowledge, experience, and capabilities to effectively fulfill that role and those responsibilities. The other outside director has extensive experience and insight as a manager, and provides advice on decisions concerning management matters, supervision of the execution of duties, and other matters, based on his experience. Currently, we have not appointed any female or foreign directors, but in the future, the nomination and compensation committee will deliberate and consider structuring things in a way that accommodates diversity and optimal capacity, including gender, internationality, work history and age.

[Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code] Updated

[Principle 1.4: Cross-Shareholdings]

The Company does not have any cross-shareholdings at present. If we do invest in cross-shareholdings in listed stocks in the future, we will disclose our policy on cross-shareholdings, including our policy and views on reducing cross-shareholdings.

[Principle 1.7: Related Party Transactions]

The Company defines related parties in the transaction management regulations for related parties. When conducting transactions with such parties as officers and major shareholders, procedures are stipulated depending on the importance and nature of the transactions, such as conducting transactions by a resolution of the Board of Directors after deliberation and consideration by a Special Committee, and with regards to important transactions, disclosing them in accordance with the laws and ordinances.

[Supplementary Principle 2.4.1: Ensuring Diversity in the Assignment of Core Human Resources]

- The Approach to Ensure Diversity -

The Group promotes diversity in human resources, working styles and employment.

With having the best "working style" and the best "workers" as our purpose, we are promoting diversity through the following three measures.

- (i) Promoting the advancement of women.
- (ii) Promoting and actively supporting the employment of global human resources.
- (iii) Appointing managers with consideration for a balance between hiring mid-career professionals and hiring new graduates.

- Independent and Measurable Goals for Ensuring Diversity

- (i) Promoting the advancement of women.

In addition to resolving the social problem of human resource shortages in the construction industry, and in order to improve our corporate value, the Group considers the advancement of women as an important issue, and we have been working on establishing a system to support and balance between work and family, and enhancing employee benefits. While the percentage of female employees working in the construction industry is 15% (*), about 30% of our technical employees are female, and they are active at the companies that we dispatch them to. (*From the 2015 "Labor Force Survey" by the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications.)

As of April 1st, 2022, the percentage of women in managerial positions in the Group is 7.3% (department heads or above, the same applies hereinafter), but based on laws to promote the advancement of women and to support the raising of the next generation of children, the following two numerical targets have been set in the general business owner action plan. We will work to create a working environment so that both men and women can work with job satisfaction and can easily balance their work and private lives.

[Numerical Target 1] By November 30, 2023, when the period of the action plan ends, the ratio of women in managerial positions shall be 20% or more.

[Numerical Target 2] By November 30, 2023, we will indirectly promote the advancement of women by getting 50% or more of male employees to take child-care leave, and by setting the average period for child-care leave to one month or more.

- (ii) Promoting and actively supporting the employment of global human resources.

The Group is promoting the recruitment of foreigners residing in Japan. In addition, in April 2021, we established COPRO VIETNAM CO., Ltd., a local subsidiary in Vietnam, as a solution to the shortage of human resources in the construction industry, and we are preparing to accept in Japan human resources from overseas. As of March 31st, 2022, there are 38 foreign employees, or 1.7% of all employees, but we will wait for the novel coronavirus to subside before further promoting recruitment.

As of April 1st, 2022, the Group does not have any foreign managers, but in line with the promotion of hiring foreigners and the expansion of business via the Vietnamese subsidiary, our goal is to train one or more foreign managers by the end of March 2025.

- (iii) Appointing managers with consideration for a balance between hiring mid-career professionals and hiring new graduates.

In the Group, about 80% of managers are mid-career hires. Since a sufficient number have already been secured, we have not set any specific numerical targets for the promotion of mid-career hires to managerial positions.

Since April 2012, we have been hiring new graduates. While considering the balance with mid-career hires in terms of diversity, we will promote the training and appointment of new graduate hires as managers.

- Human Resource Development Policy and Internal Environment Improvement Policy for Ensuring Diversity and the Status of Implementation -

At the human resources headquarters of COPRO-HOLDINGS and its subsidiaries, we have set up dedicated departments for personnel system reform, recruitment, education and career development support, and are working to create an environment in which diverse human resources can play an active role.

In terms of promoting the advancement of women, we have set up a life event support point-of-contact for employees who have taken maternity or child-care leave. Once a month, they send out information to share policies and changes in the internal environment to foster a sense of belonging, and provide counseling to support returning to work.

In addition, for mid-career hires, we hold career interviews at the end of their first year at the company, confirm the retention rate in the workplace, conduct interviews about future career development and work activities, and provide retention support.

In the future, we will gradually expand such efforts to foreign employees. For human resources who have various values, in addition to providing opportunities for employment and advancement, we also support balance with work when various life events occur.

[Principle 2.6: Roles of Corporate Pension Funds as Asset Owners]

The Company has not introduced a corporate pension system. If one is introduced, we will strive to promote and assign human resources with the expertise to manage and operate the corporate pension of the Company appropriately. We will also endeavor to properly manage conflicts of interests that arise between corporate pension beneficiaries and the Company.

[Principle 3.1: Full Disclosure]

Our basic policy is to motivate directors to enhance corporate value and achieve sustainable growth.
- As the procedure for determining the remuneration of the directors of the Company, the purpose is to ensure the independence and objectivity of the function of the Board of Directors related to the remuneration of the directors and to strengthen accountability. A discretionary nomination and compensation committee has been set up as an advisory body to the Board of Directors, and decisions are made by the Board of Directors after deliberation and consideration by the nomination and compensation committee.
- (iv) Regarding the policies and procedures for the appointment and dismissal of directors and the determination of the future management system, decisions are made by the Board of Directors after mutual evaluation by the directors, and deliberation and consideration by the nomination and compensation committee. The criteria for appointing directors are listed below:
- Directors shall possess extensive experience and knowledge in each area, the capabilities and qualities needed to be a manager, and a broad perspective on global management.

- Outside directors shall possess broad knowledge and experience, a sufficient record in their area of expertise, and must satisfy the standards of independence as an independent officer to strengthen the management supervisory function.

[Supplementary Principle 4.1.1: Role and Responsibilities of the Board of Directors (1)]

The Company's Board of Directors complies with the Articles of Incorporation and laws and regulations, and specified Rules on the Board of Directors for discussing matters in Board of Directors meetings. As a body responsible for making decisions that can respond rapidly to a changing business environment, the Board of Directors has established a system for supervising the execution of duties and strives to make decisions impartially.

The Rules on Meeting Types also specify the Medium-term-Management-Plan Monitoring Meeting that full-time directors and full-time auditors attend. In these meetings, matters referred to the Board of Directors are carefully examined, and matters related to the promotion and progress of the medium-term management plan, management strategies, and matters concerning the overall policy on execution of duties and risk management are discussed.

The scope of delegation to management (directors) is specified in the Rules on Division of Duties, the Rules on Responsibilities and Authority, and the Matrix on Administrative Authority in the addendum to the Rules on Responsibilities and Authority. Duties are performed according to the division of duties and administrative authority granted to the division in charge of each area.

[Principle 4.9: Independence Standards and Qualities of Independent Outside Directors]

The Company adheres to the standards of independence specified in the Companies Act and by Tokyo Stock Exchange, Inc. in appointing outside directors.

[Supplementary Principle 4.10.1: Utilization of Discretionary Mechanisms]

We are a company with a board of corporate auditors, and although the number of independent outside directors has not reached the majority of the board of directors, we have appointed two independent outside directors. In addition, the Company has established a nomination and compensation committee consisting of two independent outside directors and two independent outside corporate auditors. The nomination of candidates for directors and the remuneration of directors are decided by a resolution of the Board of Directors after deliberation and consideration by the nomination and compensation committee from an independent and objective standpoint. Specifically, the following matters are deliberated by the nomination and compensation committee in response to a consultation from the Board of Directors, and are reported to the Board of Directors.

- Matters concerning the appointment and dismissal of directors and corporate auditors.

- Basic policy regarding remuneration for directors and matters related to the remuneration system, etc.
- Matters concerning the amount of individual remuneration for directors.
- Matters concerning successor planning (including training).
- Other matters deemed necessary by the Board of Directors regarding the nomination and remuneration of directors, etc.

While the majority of members of the nomination and compensation committee are not independent outside directors, since all the members are independent outside officers, we believe that the independence and objectivity from the management team are ensured.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.1: Disclosure of the Balance, Diversity, and Size of the Entire Board of Directors and the Skill Matrix of the Directors]

In order to enhance the substance of discussions by the Board of Directors, the articles of incorporation limit the number of directors to 10 or less. We also appoint independent outside directors and independent outside corporate auditors, and work to maintain management transparency and soundness. Currently, there are six directors, two of whom are outside directors.

Directors from within the company are appointed from executives in each function such as sales, recruitment and education. As a policy of appointing outside directors and outside corporate auditors based on their expected expertise in major management issues and corporate management experience at other companies, we ensure a balance of knowledge, experience and abilities for the Board of Directors, as well as diversity and appropriate scale.

The policies and procedures regarding the appointment of directors are as described in Principle 3-1 (iv) above. The so-called skill matrix, which details the knowledge, experience, and abilities of each director, is listed on page 12 of the notice of convocation for the 16th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders of the Company. Disclosure of Policy on Determining Compensation Amounts and Calculation Methods

The Company specifies the maximum limit of compensation for directors and auditors at the General Meeting of Shareholders. Annual officer compensation, including officers' bonuses, and other compensation paid are kept within that maximum limit.

Maximum limit on officer compensation (in one fiscal year):

500 million yen for directors (resolution passed at the extraordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on March 31, 2017)

30 million yen for auditors (resolution passed at the extraordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on February 24, 2017)

At the annual General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 24, 2020, the maximum total amount of monetary compensation rights was set at 50 million yen a year, with the introduction a restricted stock compensation system. This amount is a part of the maximum limit on officer compensation noted above.

The total number of common shares of the Company issued or distributed under this system was set at a maximum of 50,000 shares per year (if circumstances arise that necessitate a stock split or reverse stock split for common shares of the Company, the Company may make reasonable adjustments to the number of shares issued or distributed).

The following policy on decisions concerning the individual compensation of directors was approved at the Board of Directors meetings held on February 10, 2021 and on April 13, 2022::

a. Policy on decisions concerning officer compensation

The Company's policy on decisions concerning officer compensation is as follows:

1. Compensation shall function as an incentive for ongoing enhancement of corporate value and improvement in performance, and value will be shared with shareholders.
2. The level of compensation shall be commensurate with the role and responsibilities of the officer and a level that can attract and retain outstanding human resources.
3. Compensation shall focus on transparency that will achieve accountability and fairness.

b. Process for determining officer compensation and type of compensation

The Board of Directors established the Nomination and Compensation Committee as an advisory body to ensure transparency and fairness of the decision-making process concerning officer compensation. The Nomination and Compensation Committee consists of two independent outside directors and two independent outside auditors. The committee is chaired by an independent outside director and deliberates and reports on the officer compensation policy, system, method of calculation, detailed individual compensation, and related matters to ensure objectivity of deliberations.

Specific compensation amounts are calculated based on Company-specified rules, within the maximum limit on compensation approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders. After the Nomination and Compensation Committee deliberates and reports, director compensation is discussed by the Board of Directors. The compensation of auditors is discussed by the Board of Auditors.

c. Composition of compensation by position

Directors (excluding outside directors)

- Compensation consists of a base salary, performance-linked compensation, and restricted stock compensation.
- If the goals for performance-linked compensation are met, the system is designed so that compensation theoretically consists of roughly 60% base salary and 40% from performance-linked and restricted stock compensation combined.

Outside Directors

- Outside directors only receive a base salary and no performance-linked compensation is paid, to preserve independence.

Auditors

- Auditors only receive a base salary, out of consideration for the fact that they perform legal compliance audits.

d. Compensation System

1. Base salary (fixed salary, cash)
 - The level of compensation shall take economic conditions, the Company's growth potential, and other relevant factors into consideration.
 - Fixed compensation shall be paid according to the role and responsibilities.
2. Performance-linked compensation (variable annual compensation, cash)
 - Consolidated profit attributable to owners of parent has been established as the indicator to more clearly link the responsibility for achieving company-wide performance each year to compensation, as an element that enhances corporate value and increases the stock price.
 - The theoretical total amount of compensation is calculated based on consolidated profit attributable to owners of parent. This is allocated according to position, and the resulting amount is multiplied by a coefficient that takes into account the performance evaluation of the organization the individual is in charge of, the evaluation of the individual's strategic actions, and contributions to the governance system, among other factors, to determine the amount of individual compensation. The theoretical total amount of compensation is 8% of consolidated profit attributable to owners of parent for the fiscal year, and the performance-linked coefficient range is 0.7 to 1.3.

* Calculation formula

Performance-linked compensation = {(consolidated profit attributable to owners of parent x 8%) × the position percentage specified in the Company's compensation guidelines} × the performance evaluation coefficient specified in the Company's compensation guidelines
3. Restricted stock compensation (variable compensation (medium/long-term), non-monetary)
 - Restricted stock compensation was introduced as an incentive to improve corporate value over the medium and long term by enabling directors to share value with shareholders and raise directors' awareness of the stock price.
